Two Lives

Aziza lives in Tashkent, and her cousin Bek lives in a village near Andijan. Tashkent is bigger and busier than the village. It has more schools, shops and hospitals, but the traffic is heavy. In the village, life is quieter. Bek says the air is cleaner and people are friendlier. 'The village is cheaper and calmer,' he says. 'But I love visiting Tashkent for the cinemas and parks.' Both places are special — in different ways.

Comprehension Questions (Matn savollari)

1. Where does Bek live?
2. What does Tashkent have more of?
3. What does Bek like about the village?
4. What does Aziza's cousin like about Tashkent?
