The Legend of Our School

Everyone at our school knows the name Bakhrom Xalilov. He was born in 1968 in a small village and walked four kilometres to school every day. He loved mathematics and worked hard. After school, he studied at university and became a famous engineer. He invented a cheap water pump for farmers — thousands of villages use it today. 'He is our school's legend,' our principal says. 'He shows us that a village boy can change the world.' I admire him because he never forgot where he came from.

? Comprehension Questions (Matn savollari)

1. How far did Bakhrom walk to school?
2. What did he study?
3. What did he invent?
4. Why does the writer admire him?

Famous People — Lesson 91

- Let students choose heroes they know — local pride.
- Drill 'was born / is famous for'.
- Watch for missing 'is'.
- This feeds L93 (documentary) and L100 (presentations).
